Commentary

The Fund posted a negative performance in December as most stocks were pressured by higher interest rates. The main positive contributors to the Fund performance had been Beneteau, GVS, Trigano, Fielmann and Novo Nordisk. Beneteau surged after French sailboat manufacturer lifted its 2022 guidance and raised its 2025 targets. GVS rebounded in December after the November sell-off linked to the profit warning, the company also announced an agreement to amend the financial covenants on its debt. Trigano rose as the company announced in-line FY 2021/2022 results and the management gave reassuring indications on the outlook. The main detractors to the Fund performance during the month had been Dometic, Sonova, Thor Industries, Melia and Bachem. Dometic and Thor declined as consumer discretionary stocks underperformed on investors cautiousness regarding 2023 macro outlook. Melia underperformed as investors grew more cautious about the 2023 outlook for the hotel and lodgings sector, and the stock was also penalized by a broker downgrade. During the month the main trades executed had been the sale of Bastide and Beneteau, and the purchase of Arjo, Gerresheimer, GVS, Sonova and Straumann
