Commentary

The Fund posted a negative performance in October, underperforming the benchmark by c. 200bps, penalized by the underperformance of the Small&Mid Caps. The main positive contributors to the Fund performance had been Huhtamaki, Virbac, Cementir, De' Longhi and Stabilus. Huhtamaki outperformed as the Finnish food packaging company reported Q3 results ahead of expectations, triggering some minor analysts upgrades for both 2023 and 2024. Cementir rose as few analysts pushed the stock ahead of Q3 results foreseeing a likely guidance upgrade. Stabilus jumped as the German company announced the acquisition of Destaco, a US supplier of industrial automation components, which will be accretive in terms of EPS for Stabilus and it will boost Stabilus industrial business. The main detractors to the Fund performance during the month had been Fluidra, Vetropack, Komax, Aubay and Fila. Vetropack underperformed together with the other European container glass players as the quarterly results released by Verallia and Vidrala revealed recent weakness in demand with double-digit market volume decline in Q3. Aubay declined as the French IT services company posted Q3 results below expectations and unexpectedly reduced its 2023 guidance especially on the profitability side. During the month the main trades executed had been the sale of Mondadori, Aperam, Acerinox, Stabilus and Washtec, and the purchase of Aalberts, Mersen, Fluidra, Lacroix, Technogym and Verallia.
